First Presbyterian prepares for new year

On the final day of 2023, the First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro held a brief ceremony to welcome new members Mary and Buzz Bowers, Jay Mayo, and Barbara Robbins into its church family. One week later, Sunday, Jan. 7, the church ordained two new elders, with Jocelyn Clark tasked with leading church communications efforts, including managing its new website, and Spencer Hinds charged with duties related to member outreach, including continuing production of weekly Sermon Preview videos. Greensboro's First Presbyterian Church (117 S. Main St.) holds weekly Sunday service at 11 a.m., preceded by Bible study at 9:45 a.m.
